My name is Andrew Dominguez, and I feel I would be a perfect addition to the SAYLA Board of Directors. Since starting law school, I've been involved with SAYLA, and recognize not only the importance of the organization not through social events, but also a way for those new to the profession to find a way to bond and go through the struggle's of being a new attorney. If elected I would strive to maintain SAYLA's open arm approach and continue thinking of ways to have events which apply to the different members of SAYLA.
